Wreck Fatal To Over 80

Nation's Worst in 32 Years Occurs At Woodbridge, N. J. Late Tuesday

(Pictures on Page 10)

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Authorities said today that a crack commuter train was traveling twice its authorized speed when it roared off the rails here last night, killing 82 persons.

By Art Everett and Martin Post

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., Feb. 7.—(AP)—A crowded commuter train plunged off a newly-erected trestle last night, killing 82 persons and injuring about 500. It was the nation's worst train wreck in 32 years.

Throughout the night and far into today, rescue workers hacked through the twisted mass of wreckage. They said other bodies still may be found in the crumpled coaches and debris.

The 11-car Pennsylvania railroad train, "The Broker," swerved wildly and jumped the tracks as it sped onto the midtown overpass. The cars, jack-knifing crazily, hurtled down a 20-foot embankment.

The new, temporary overpass had been put in service only a few hours before the crash.

Inquire as to Sabotage

In Newark, the FBI said it was investigating to determine "whether sabotage was involved."

The railroad, which could offer no immediate explanation for the cause of the wreck.

The dead included bankers, lawyers and businessmen, prominent in their localities and civic life, most of them home-bound from New York City offices.

In mid-morning, the list of known dead stood at 79, with three bodies still unidentified.

The rush-hour crackup was the worst in the nation since 1918 when 115 were killed in a Nashville, Tenn., wreck, and more disastrous than a 1943 accident outside Philadelphia that took 80 lives.

It was the third major train wreck in the metropolitan area in less than a year. A total of nearly 200 died in the three crackups.

In Washington, the Interstate Commerce commission ordered an inquiry into the new disaster, with a public hearing to open tomorrow.

On orders of New Jersey Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, the state's attorney general, Theodore Parsons, also began an investigation. He reached the scene early today, and sent an assistant to a hospital to question the critically injured engineer of the wrecked train.

Jammed in Aisles

It was loaded to the aisles with homebound commuters—mostly from New York—on their way to Red Bank, Long Branch, Asbury Park and other communities on New Jersey's wealthy north shore.

Engineer Joseph H. Fitzsimmons, a veteran of 33 accident-free years on the road, blamed the overcrowded coaches and the new trestle for the tragedy.

Alive but injured, the 57-year old Fitzsimmons said from a hospital cot:

"The moment my engine passed over the trestle and plunged sharply I felt the rest of the cars would never make it."

"I hit the trestle at about 25 miles per hour and the speed of the train certainly couldn't be blamed for the crash. When I started to sway, I applied the brakes, but it apparently was too late."

Passengers and at least one railroad detective—who did not give his name—disagreed with the engineer on the speed of the train. The detective said it was going at top speed when it hit the trestle.

The Pennsylvania, in a statement, said a 25-mile an hour speed limit was in effect on the new track, opened to traffic less than five hours before "The Broker" cracked up.

The new track was swung about 50 feet from the old one to clear the way for the Jersey turnpike, big cross-state highway now under construction.

The railroad said the trestle itself was not a factor in the accident—despite the engineer's statement.

Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll ordered an investigation to pin down the cause. The New Jersey Public Utilities commission at once

Switchmen Back to Jobs In Most Cities

Contempt Charge Hearing is Being Held in Chicago

By The Associated Press

A federal judge hearing a contempt charge against railroad strikers declared today switchmen have challenged U.S. sovereignty and that army officers should be running the railroads.

Judge Michael L. Igo made this observation from the bench in Chicago. Over the country back-to-work movements of striking switchmen were gaining momentum.

Some key railroad centers, including Chicago, Cleveland and St. Louis, still remained underground and the long tieup continued. The back-to-work trend began yesterday in New York, Philadelphia and a number of other points.

Judge Igo unloaded a verbal blast at strikers during a hearing of federal contempt charges against officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for a sick call strike in December.

The current strike, again by members of this brotherhood, fits into the same pattern of the December walkout when the government obtained an injunction to get the men back to work.

The government maintains the B.R.T. is in contempt for allegedly violating the injunction.

The brotherhood contends it is not responsible for the strike, that the men stayed away from work as individuals, not as a union.

Ford Layoff For 30,000

DETROIT, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Ford Motor Co., announced today it will lay off 30,000 employees at its big Dearborn Rouge plant Friday despite continuing improvement in the rail situation.

With an estimated 100,000 auto workers already idle, the prospect of further layoffs overshadowed spotty back-to-work calls.

Ford also will shut down its Highland Park truck assembly line for several days after today and close its Mound Road plant near here on Friday. It said a lack of freight cars forced its action. Even a complete settlement of the switchmen's dispute cannot prevent the layoffs, the company added.

Ford now has 10,250 workers idle, including 2,200 idled today at its Edgewater, N. J. plant.

General Motors said it still had about 75,000 on the layoff list at 26 plants after 13,000 were called back to their jobs at half a dozen other factories.

Nash's 14,000 workers at two Wisconsin plants remained idle. Studebaker said it would start a progressive layoff of 12,750 employees at the end of today's shift.

Chest X-Rays Be Taken At the Court House

The Pettis County Tuberculosis Association will take x-rays at the court house Friday and Saturday night, Saturday and Saturday night.

This will give the public an opportunity to have a chest x-ray for the small amount of 75 cents.

Scene of Pathos and Grief At Wreck in Which 82 Died

By Charles F. Capaldo and Frances Lewine

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., Feb. 7.—(AP)—A bright red commuter train flashed toward Jersey's north shore residential area last night. It was making good time.

Then . . . A quiet section of town, a temporary wooden trestle and a grinding, tearing crash in the wintry night.

Silence—Just a billowing cloud of dust and dirt mingled with searing steam from the Pennsylvania railroad express—followed by piercing, chilling cries.

Eighty-two persons died. Those who escaped considered themselves lucky.

Mrs. Isabella Carlington of Asbury Park is one of these.

"I was thrown out of the window, smashing my face and landed in three feet of mud. A man's leg was lying alongside of me and I got up and fled," she said.

Mrs. Josephine Brydon of South Belmar, clutching a bloody rag to her face, said she was saved

Parade Picture For the Lions

Robert Sherman Is Speaker at Club Luncheon

The Sedalia Lions club at its noonday meeting today, had as their guest speaker Robert Sherman, who spoke on "The Sedalia Jaycees, Junior Chamber of Commerce." They also saw a colored motion picture of the Christmas parade sponsored by the Jaycees which was narrated by Mr. Sherman.

Mr. Sherman in his talk explained the organization of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, of its being founded in St. Louis, Mo., back in 1919 and since has grown to have a membership of 104,000 and represented in 35 countries.

He told of the activities and how the organization takes a young man and starts him on his way into civic activities. There is an age limit, he explained, of twenty-one years old through thirty-five.

The motion picture was shown by Staff Sergeant John Stacey, of the U. S. Army Recruiting Service.

Two New Members
John Swope, Gillespie funeral home, and Harry O'Mealy, Sedalia Bowling Lanes, were introduced by District Governor D. Kelly Scruton as new members of the club.

Guests today were Sergeant Joe Clark of the United States Marines Recruiting Service of Fred A. Keuck, Joe Cunningham, and Chet Brown of Cline Cain.

The cradle song was sung twice during the meeting to Dr. David Robinson and Bob Cain, fathers of sons born the past few days. The customary cigars were passed by the two new fathers.

Lloyd Parker, reported on the recent Lions Independent basketball tournament which proved to be not only successful as to the basketball games but financially to the organization.

Kenneth Buchholtz, president, presided over the meeting.

Women Dead Due To Asphyxiation

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Two women were found dead of asphyxiation last night in living quarters at the rear of a cleaning shop in suburban Affton. Deputy Sheriff Jacob Pfeiffer said a small gas heater had consumed all the oxygen in the room.

The victims were Mrs. Bernice Elders, 32, operator of the shop, and Mrs. Ann Anth, 21, a friend. Mrs. Anth had been staying with Mrs. Elders, who was recovering from the flu.

A pet dog was found dead in an adjoining room.

Mr. Porter said that upon his arrival at the building Mr. Hughes found practically the entire north section, the old school building, a mass of flames and quickly spread the alarm. Volunteers rushed to the scene and began to do their best in trying to save contents and the building.

But it was not until the Versailles fire department arrived that the fire was harnessed and the new section assured of being saved.

There were ten class rooms in the destroyed section from which a small amount of furniture was saved and the athletic equipment. Mr. Porter also said that about seventy-five per cent of the school library was destroyed.

Typewriters Lost

The school used twenty typewriters, fifteen of which were practically new and five new machines, all of which were lost in the fire.

Mr. Porter in discussing the loss said although the estimated loss to the school was $75,000, insurance in the amount of $40,000 was carried on the school.

Mr. Porter also explained that Mr. Warneke had been to the school early in the morning and built his fire, then went through the building checking to see that everything was in order for school to start. At that time he did not see any smoke or fire and everything seemed to be normal.

This was about 7:30 o'clock. MORE—vbvbkq cmfw vbvbk vb

The school is known as District 31, Stover and was not a consolidated school. It had 150 high school students and about 90 grade school students.

Board Meets Tonight

The Stover school board has called a meeting for tonight to discuss plans for the school building and to make necessary arrangements to carry on with the school program.

Churches at Stover have offered their buildings to the school board for temporary quarters of classes.

Mr. Porter in discussing the situation said the cooperation shown in handling the fire and the desire to offer what assistance individuals could give was excellent. He praised the work of the Versailles fire fighters as well.

The superintendent also made an appeal to any school or school district which might have extra desks and other school equipment to contact him.

At noon today the fire was under control and watchmen were standing by to see that the debris did not burst into flames again. Watchmen will be kept on duty throughout the night as a protective measure.

The District Court of Honor for all Sedalia Boy Scout Troops will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night in the circuit court room at the courthouse.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—President Truman called in former Republican President Herbert Hoover today to seek his advice—and support—on a proposed grant of 2,000,000 tons of grain to India.

India asked for the grain because of a famine threat as the result of a poor crop year. The administration wants to grant it. But the chance of winning congressional approval has been hurt by Indian Prime Minister Nehru's friendship for Communist China.

Congress members were sharply critical of Nehru's opposition to the recent, successful American move in the United Nations to brand the Chinese Communists as aggressors in Korea.

Mr. Hoover's support for a grain grant obviously would strengthen the administration's plea to Congress considerably. That plea is expected to be based on the argument that to prevent starvation in India would not mean approval

Score of Firemen Were Injured

HOUSTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—A spectacular gasoline fire along the Houston ship channel was brought under control at dawn today after an all-night fight by nearly 200 firemen. About 20 firemen were hurt.

Flames rose 300 feet in the air, lighting up the countryside for a mile around, after a creeping grass set fire to a 24,500-gallon gasoline tank last night.

The tank was in the middle of an oil storage terminal with 50 huge tanks with a total capacity of 2,750,000 barrels. Only a few yards away was a tank holding 80,000 barrels of aviation gasoline. It got so hot the paint peeled from it.

For hours the fire threatened oil and industrial plants which have mushroomed alongside the ship channel connecting Houston with the Gulf of Mexico.

Fire Destroys Section of the Stover School

Loss to Building And Contents Will Be About $75,000

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the old section of the Stover high and grade school about 7:45 o'clock this morning.

The loss was estimated at close to $75,000 to the building and contents. The new section, consisting of the gymnasium, was saved through the efforts of the Versailles fire department which volunteered its services.

E. E. Porter, superintendent of the Stover schools, reported the fire was discovered by Ernest Hughes, one of the instructors at the high school, about 15 minutes after the building had been checked by Deo Warnke, the janitor.

Mr. Porter said that upon his arrival at the building Mr. Hughes found practically the entire north section, the old school building, a mass of flames and quickly spread the alarm. Volunteers rushed to the scene and began to do their best in trying to save contents and the building.

Doughboys of US Are Driving Chinese Reds From Hills Positions

Sgt. Pfeiffer On Plane With Loudspeaker

Voice From the Heavens Calls to Reds to Surrender

By Stan Swinton

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Frontline Chinese Reds were greeted on the Chinese lunar New Year's day Tuesday by a booming voice from the heavens:

"Why are you taking orders like slaves from your Russian masters?"

Then it pledged freedom and food for those who would surrender.

The voice was that of a Korean civilian, Harry Jenoc. He was speaking Chinese into a microphone aboard an especially-equipped C-47 transport plane.

After the flying loudspeaker delivered its message, it dropped blue and white surrender leaflets. Each bore General MacArthur's personal guarantee of safe conduct through United Nations lines.

Maj. Frank Burdell of Lincoln, Neb., a divisional psychological warfare officer, guided the plane to three Red-held hills and over a valley where remnants of the Chinese 149th division blocked the U. N. advance toward Seoul.

Jenoc expressed confidence the Red troops would surrender if they could escape shooting by their own officers.

Other crew members of the flying loudspeaker were Lt. Charles Young, Philadelphia; Lt. John A. Rea, 5240 West Florissant St., St. Louis and Staff Sgt. Joseph G. Pfeiffer, Sedalia, Mo.

Staff Sergeant Joseph G. Pfeiffer, mentioned as a member of the crew on the C-47 named "Loudspeaker," formerly resided in Sedalia at Fourteenth street and Missouri avenue. He is the son of Mrs. Grace Pfeiffer and the late Joseph Pfeiffer.

S/Sgt. Pfeiffer is married and has three children. Mrs. Pfeiffer and children are now visiting with relatives in Iceland, and his mother is now residing at Newport, News, Va.

The vote on the second resolution was 15 in favor, 50 against and 2 (Afghanistan and Yugoslavia) abstaining.

The committee's action disposed of the long-standing Soviet charges which were leveled at the United States while the U. N. considered similar accusations against Communist North Korea and Communist China.

A move will be made this afternoon to suspend indefinitely consideration of an American item on the future status of Formosa. This will complete the committee's agenda carried over from last fall.

N. U. sources confirmed meanwhile, that Canada's Lester B. Pearson has turned down a bid to serve on the U. N. good offices committee set up to seek peace in Korea.

The Canadian minister for external affairs was a member of the U. N. cease-fire committee and had been asked by Assembly President Nasrallah Entezam of Iran to serve on the new body. Sir Benegal N. Rau of India, another member of the cease-fire committee, previously had rejected an invitation to join the good offices committee.

Sven Grafstrom of Sweden has agreed to serve in place of Rau. Meanwhile, the Soviet bloc countries continued to blast the United States as an aggressor against China. Czechoslovak delegate Jiri Nosek led off the attack this morning.

The drive straight up the center of Korea was pushed by five columns. It threw off balance the North Korean Fifth corps which had massed along the Hongchong-Hoengsong highway for a possible renewal of the Red drive down the spiny center of South Korea.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th corps commander, ordered the five columns to sweep ridges and clean out the Reds.

The five striking forces fanned out from Hoengsong, about 50 miles east of Seoul. Forward South Korean and American patrols ranged within five miles of Hoengsong, a junction 20 miles east of 38.

One reached Pungsuwong, 10 miles northwest of Hoengsong; a second drove three miles north-east of the highway center; a third was six miles from Saemal; a fourth was 12 miles northeast of Hoengsong near Yudong; the fifth was moving up in reserve.

In the west, an intelligence officer said Chinese army headquarters had warned Seoul residents to stay indoors because of an epidemic. There have been reports of louse-borne typhus among Red troops.

The Reds were sowing minefields. Engineers cleared paths through them and the tank columns killed hundreds of Reds.

Cpl. H. C. Dennis Reported Missing

Cpl. Harry C. Dennis, Columbus, Ohio, husband of Mrs. H. C. Dennis, 900 South Stewart avenue, has been reported by the Department of Defense as missing in action since December 2, in Korea. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Dennis, of Columbus, Ohio.

Cpl. Dennis served two years during World War II in the European theater under Gen. George S. Patton. Shortly before he was reported missing he was awarded the combat infantryman's badge.

Mrs. Dennis, who was formerly Miss Bernadine Ezell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ezell, 1609 South Barrett avenue, and their one-year-old daughter, Nora, reside at 900 South Stewart avenue.

The Chinese and Korean Reds were digging in for a new stand on the ridges just south of Seoul. At their backs was the Han river, still an ice-covered way of retreat for the Reds but now on the verge of thawing.

On the central front, United Nations forces with South Koreans in the lead pushed northward toward the old Parallel 38 border.

On the east coast, South Korean forces secured high ground three miles east and west and five miles south of Kangnung, a coastal road town 17 miles south of 38. Allied naval power blasted the Reds in Kangnung itself.

The whole complexion of the war had shifted once again. The Allies had regained the initiative in their 14-day-old "limited" offensive and the Reds were giving ground.

Ready For Shelling

Artillery was in position to pour shells into the old Korean capital of Seoul, abandoned Jan. 4 for the second time in the Korean war by anti-Communist forces.

Three tank task forces prowled the southern approaches to Seoul again Wednesday for the third straight day, shooting up Red rearwards wherever they choose to make a stand.

Task Force Fisher rolled within four miles of the Han river and was only seven miles southeast of Seoul. Task forces Bartlett and Dolvin met heavy red resistance as they rumbled to points eight to 10 miles southwest of Seoul. Late in the day they made their customary nightly withdrawal to bivouac positions.

In their Wednesday thrusts, task force Dolvin pushed up the main road toward Seoul, Task Force Fisher ranged east of the highway and Task Force Bartlett fought up a parallel road three or four miles west of the main artery.

Doughboys cleared the hills of Chinese as the tankers fought up valley roads.

An American infantry company stormed a hill three miles west of Anyang with cold steel when small arms fire and grenades failed to drive off 100 well-dug-in Reds.

"We had to get the hill or get the hell out of there," said Capt. Lewis Millett, South Dartmouth, Mass., whose men were stalled within 75 feet of the crest.

Felled By Bayonets

"Fix your bayonets, boys," he yelled. "We're going to drive them off that hill."

The doughboys plunged up the snow-covered slope.

The Reds crumbled. Forty fell under bayonet thrusts. Another 50 were shot in the back as they fled down the slope. A field dispatch said Millett himself killed three by bayonet and shot two more Reds.

The drive straight up the center of Korea was pushed by five columns. It threw off balance the North Korean Fifth corps which had massed along the Hongchong-Hoengsong highway for a possible renewal of the Red drive down the spiny center of South Korea.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th corps commander, ordered the five columns to sweep ridges and clean out the Reds.

Rhineland, Mo. Folk Revive Ancient Pre-Lenten Festival

RHINELAND, Mo., Feb. 7.—(P)—Residents of this little Missouri river community of 200 turned back the calendar more than 100 years last night in a gay festival that probably is not duplicated anywhere in the world.

It was the annual Wurst Jagers, Fest, or "The Feast of the Sausage Hunters," an event brought to this country from Germany more than a century ago.

The Wurst Jagers' Fest is a time of festivity in anticipation of the dietary rigors of Lent.

Beer and Sausage Plentiful
Fritz Theissen, the man who keeps the affair alive, describes it as an event in which "everybody gets a bellyful of sausage and beer before Lent starts" and adds:

"It gives the people a chance to have a helluva blowout and at the same time look back on the customs of their forebears."

Theissen is 55 years old. He visited Germany last fall and found that the Wurst Jagers' Fest is no longer observed. It was a casualty of Hitler's regime, he explained.

At the celebration tonight there were several participants wearing costumes that were brought to Missouri in carefully-packed trunks in the 1840s.

There also were the gaily-dressed and masked "Sausage Hunters" who led the grand parade and chanted songs steeped in German antiquity. There, too, were the brightly-dressed dancers who stepped off the old folk dances—"Herr Schmidt," "Vise Cupf" and "Tiger Tanz."

And there was, of course, the German band—a six-piece outfit led by Theissen, a business-farmer.

Town Near Jeff City
Looking back, he explains: Rhineland, about 40 miles west of Jefferson City, was settled by German Catholics from the regions of Coblenz, Baden-Baden and Cologne, on the Rhine. They shipped to their new homes here from St. Louis by slow Missouri river boats, and set up the town on the north bank overlooking the "Big Muddy."

A tenacious lot, they brought their customs, including the Wurst Jagers' Fest.

The celebration tonight, as in recent years, was watered down. It was also on a commercial basis, at 75 cents a head. People flock in from miles around and it's impossible to conduct the affair otherwise.

The road runs through the farms of Lee Feaster and Fernley N. Taylor.

Petition Approved To Abandon Road
The Pettis County Court has approved a petition to vacate a rural road, four miles west of Green Ridge in the Green Ridge Township. The court after reading the petition signed by twelve persons declared the road vacated and closed.

The road runs through the farms of Lee Feaster and Fernley N. Taylor.

Judge Finds Cure For Sick Railmen

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—(P)—It seems as if the "illness" of some of the striking railroaders can be cured.

The county prosecutor called the Baltimore and Ohio railroad offices and asked that five employees appear as witnesses in a traffic accident case.

"Why, they're all sick," he was told.

Subpoenas were served on the "sick" men and all appeared in court.

After the defendant was found guilty of drunken driving, criminal court Judge Harry O. Chamberlain asked the railroaders: "Are all of you men sick?" "Yes, Judge," one replied, "but our sickness can be cured."

Church Wedding In Austin

In a single ring ceremony in the Hyde Park Christian church in Austin, Tex., Miss Vida Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Wolfe, of Austin, became the bride of Mr. James Robert Boudin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boudin, Sr., 1001 Meriden Lane, Austin, on January 6. The Rev. Chester Crow of Fort Worth, director of religious education for Christian churches in Texas, read the marriage ceremony. The benediction was by the Rev. A. K. Stevenson, pastor of the Hyde Park Christian church.

The bridegroom is a nephew of Mr. Leonard Boudin, 1404 South Kentucky avenue, and a great nephew of Miss Mildred Boudin, 209 West Fifth street.

The vows were spoken before a background of Kentia palms. Two large baskets of ivory gladioli were placed before the palms at either end, and a center arrangement of ivory gladioli and beneath the lighted cross. Candelabra holding lighted ivory tapers completed the altar decorations. Hurricane lamps entwined with fern and white satin were placed at each pew.

Preceding the ceremony Mr. Bill Montandon sang "At Dawn" and "I Love Thee," accompanied by Mrs. Allen Hutton who also played the traditional wedding march. Mr. Montandon sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Mr. Wolfe gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown was of ivory satin, fashioned with a mandarin collar and a yoke beaded with seed pearls. The fitted sleeves came to points over the wrists. The fitted bodice was fastened in the back with tiny self-covered buttons extending from the neckline to the waist, and the trumpet skirt extended into a chapel-length train. Her headpiece was a Juliet crown of seed pearls to which was attached a chapel-length veil of lace. She carried a handkerchief carried by her grandmother, Mrs. Martha Wolfe.

Mrs. George Dale Anderson, who until her recent marriage was Miss Marilyn Rayburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Rayburn of Green Ridge.

at her wedding. Her bouquet was a semi-cascade arrangement of ivory calla lilies.

Her sister, Miss Nita Mitchell, was maid of honor who wore an ivory taffeta gown fashioned with a portrait neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her headpiece was of ivory satin bands with a veil of foliage green illusion and she carried a heavily crescent bouquet of ivory gladioli surrounded by ivory satin gladioli spikes.

The bridesmaids, Miss Ellen Wilson of Leonard and Miss Judy Ebeling were gowns identical to that of the maid of honor.

Mary Ann East, cousin of the bride, as flower girl, wore ivory satin designed like that of the bridesmaids and carried a basket of white petals.

Mr. Howard Boudin, Jr., attended his brother as best man. Other attendants were his brother, Mr. Harvey Boudin, and Mr. Jack Paxton with Mr. Johnny Zgliniski and Mr. James G. Ferris as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. An Italian cutwork cloth trimmed with lace over linen covered the bride's table. A single-ring ivory wedding cake, trimmed with calla lilies and surrounded by green foliage was placed at one end of the table and the crystal punch bowl at the other end. The bride's bouquet was placed on a reflector to form the centerpiece.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of violet crepe with white feather hat and white gloves and her corsage was of orchids. Mrs. Boudin, mother of the bridegroom, wore a mauve dinner gown with burgundy hat and gloves. Her wrist bouquet was of orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Austin high school, attended the University of Texas where she was a pledge of Delta Gamma sorority; Christian college in Fort Worth where she majored in business administration.

Mr. Boudin is a graduate of Austin high school where he was a member of the football team two years and he is now associated in business with his father in the Safeway Farm Products firm.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

General Eisenhower Wins Congress to His Corner

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Almost as interesting as the military secrets he revealed—which cannot be told—was the human side of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as he briefed the House Armed Services and Foreign Affairs committee on his recent trip to Europe.

Ike impressed congressmen with his honesty and humility during the closed-door session. There wasn't a member present—Democrat or Republican—who wasn't solidly in his corner when it was over.

Probably the best compliment was paid by articulate Carl Vinson of Georgia, House Armed Services chairman, who didn't open his mouth once during the entire meeting. As one congressman remarked: "A guy has to be good to make Carl, who dominates all our meetings, take a back seat."

Eisenhower reported that Europeans generally were "determined" to fight communism, with our help, but he added that we should not adopt a "mendicant attitude" toward Germany or any other nation, as though they are doing us a favor by fighting their own battles against Soviet aggression.

"I'm the kind of a guy who would rather go down with my flag nailed to the masthead, fighting for what I believe in," he emphasized. "Those we are helping must show the same spirit."

Ike also told the closed-door meeting that Marshal Zhukov, former Soviet commandant in Berlin, was in bad with the Kremlin, apparently because of a too-friendly attitude toward Western powers.

"Back in the days when I knew him, Zhukov was hand-in-glove with Stalin," Eisenhower said. "But the last I heard of him, he was riding around in an old Ford that could use a repair job."

Future of Foot Soldier

While Ike was stressing the importance of sea and air power, GOP Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee inquired if he wasn't "minimizing" the importance of the foot soldier.

"I don't want to be understood at any time as minimizing the responsibility and ability of the doughboy," Eisenhower replied quickly. "No fight has ever been won without him. The air force and the navy get the cheers, but the doughboys get the white crosses in the ground."

At one point when he felt that he was growing preachy, Ike grinned: "If I sound philosophical, just remember that I have been a college president."

But he didn't sound like a college president a moment later, when stressing the importance of unity with our European Allies, he said:

"We'd be in a hell of a fix—"

Then he apologized to congresswomen Frances Bolton of Ohio and Edna Kelly of New York. One congressman, alluding to Ike's statement that the European people were "determined" to carry on the fight against communism, asked him the reason. Chief of Staff General Alfred Gruenther broke in to answer the question.

"Ike himself is chiefly responsible," he said. "He sold the Europeans on the idea that we couldn't help them much unless they had the will to fight for their own salvation."

"That's the first time in my life that a chief of staff has ever embarrassed me," commented Eisenhower.

Capitol lockdown—House Doorkeeper "Fish-bait" Miller, who is also in charge of the House "Folding Room," has an interesting way of taking care of his stepmother-in-law. He places her on the folding-room payroll and lets Uncle Sam foot the bill. If Fishbait does this for his stepmother-in-law, wonder what he does for his closer relatives? (The "Folding Room" sends out literature, franked mail, etc., to congressmen's constituents.) . . . though H. S. T. has Bernie Baruch on the Presidential black list, Baruch still has plenty of power in Washington. Two of his closest friends, Gen. Lucius Clay and Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, have key defense jobs, while Baruch also cracks the whip occasionally over mobilization czar Charles E. Wilson. . . . Democratic Chairman Bill Boyle got a bit miffed at when price potentate Mike DiSalle told a Congressional committee: "There is such an immediate need for employees that I may have to hire some Democrats." Boyle didn't realize DiSalle was kidding. (DiSalle claims that the actual ratio of Democrats hired is about 36 per cent against 65 per cent Republicans.)

Along the Potomac—wartime bureaucrats are flocking back to Washington by the thousands. A quarter of a million civilians have already been added to the Federal payroll and another 500,000 may be taken on by 1952. . . . The kicking around given Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine by jumpin' Joe McCarthy has got a lot of senators sore. Byrd of Virginia gave Mrs. Smith pointed support by publicly praising her views on economy, while Pat McCarran of Nevada told GOP Leader Wherry: "I would like very much to have Mrs. Smith as a member of my committee investigating subversives." . . . Constantine Brown, the Washington Star's foreign editor, has gone in for domestic king-making. He has been conferring with Dolores Bridges, wife of the New Hampshire senator, on ways and means of kicking out genial Guy

Gabrielson as chairman of the Republican National committee. . . . Sen. Bob Taft tell friends that McCarthy's senate speeches are chiefly for the purpose of garnering more lecture engagements. Joe's fee has now gone up to $1,000. . . . The White House picked one of the toughest lawyers in the east to enforce price control—"Jiggs" Donohue, the man who convicted Harry Bridges of perjury. Predictions: There'll be less black marketeering this time than last.

Backstage with the diplomats—Dean Acheson has been sore as blazes at the British, especially Foreign Minister Bevin, for hanging back on citing Red China for aggression. In one off-record session, Acheson exploded: "How many times do the Chinese have to say no before Bevin believes them?" . . . The Red Chinese in Peiping have suddenly started courting British and Swedish diplomats. The Chinese invite them to dinners and receptions where the following line is dished out: "There is no reason why China can't be friends with Britain and Sweden if only you will stop being friends with those atrocious Americans." . . . The Kremlin has refused to accept the appointment of Senator Zalan Shazar as new ambassador from Israel. The Soviet foreign office gave no reason but the American embassy says Shazar is not wanted because he was once a Zionist leader in Russia and is suspected of wanting to return as a spy. . . . Acheson is telling friends that he will never resign under fire—no matter how bitterly Senator McCarthy and other GOPsters attack him. Acheson is confident the American people eventually will realize how unfair these attacks are and that his policies will finally be vindicated while men like McCarthy will go down in history as malicious crackpots.

Health For All—Measles

Measles was at one time considered a "necessary" childhood disease—as inevitable as a child's first tooth or his first steps. Some mothers would actually expose their little one to the illness, and others did nothing to keep their youngsters away from children who had the contagious disease because it was considered a relief to have measles "over and done with."

The majority of parents today realize that although a common childhood disease, measles can be a very serious one—mainly because of the grave complications which can follow it. Actually, doctors warn that the likelihood of complications is high with children under two years of age who contract measles. These complications can mean permanent injury to a child's respiratory system.

Moreover, far from being a "light" illness, measles can reduce a child's body resistance so low that he is an easy prey to broncho-pneumonia, mastoid and ear infections, and even tuberculosis.

Measles may occur at any time of the year but the disease seems to reach epidemic proportions most frequently in February and March. The disease, caused by a tiny virus, is spread easily from person to person through direct contact. The virus is carried in the droplets of moisture sprayed into the air when the victim of measles coughs, sneezes, or even as he laughs and talks. There is no specific preventive against measles although recently there has been in use a discovery which can lessen the possibility of grave complications from the disease. It is a serum known as "globulin," developed from blood or blood plasma.

The symptoms of measles resemble those of a cold, with the victim suffering from sneezing, a cough, a running nose, and sometimes a slight fever. The tell-tale red spots appear first inside the mouth, where they are known as Koplik spots, then on the face, neck, and chest, and spread rapidly to the rest of the body.

The mother who knows that her child has been exposed to measles or is getting the disease should put him to bed and call the doctor at once. If the child has the measles, prompt medical care may enable him to ward off possible severe complications.

Although measles can be serious for any child or adult who contracts it, special measures should be taken to protect the child between six months and two years of age. After six months, the baby loses his "birth immunity" to measles and may be vulnerable to the disease.

Measles should never be treated lightly or neglected. Without prompt and proper medical care, measles can seriously impair a person's health for life.

The Doctor Says—

Children Should be Checked For Rheumatic Heart Disease

by EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Heart disease caused by rheumatic fever is responsible for at least half of all cases of heart trouble in children. About one youngster in 250 is afflicted with rheumatic heart disease. This is even worse in certain mountain areas where rheumatic fever is particularly common and may rise to more than one in 100.

Rheumatic fever has been called childhood's greatest enemy. It also attacks grownups and is one of the most important causes of heart disease in later life as well as in childhood. In its typical form it produces swelling, pain, and redness of the joints, usually skipping from one to another. The joints recover entirely, but permanent damage to the heart all too often results.

Both the heart muscle which causes this organ to contract and expand thus producing its pump-like action, and the inner valves of the heart may be injured. The valves which lie between the heart chambers serve an important purpose in the circulation of the blood. If they are damaged in such a way as to cause the blood to flow backward into a chamber which it is supposed to have left, the heart of course is subjected to extra strain.

Until medical science has discovered the cause of rheumatic fever, or at least some good way of preventing it, the important thing is to diagnose its presence as early as possible so that proper treatment can be outlined. Rheumatic fever is not always a dramatic thing and sometimes rheumatic heart disease can arise with out any illness which has been recognized by the parents.

In order to find it promptly all school children should have an adequate physical examination at least once a year. This can be done well by the school physician because practically every child comes under his observation at regular intervals. This challenge is being met with increasing success.

Speeding Cure

Treatment of rheumatic fever is also not yet wholly satisfactory. Complete rest in bed is necessary as is good nursing care, such as would be used for any acute infection or illness. Drugs of the salicylate family, such as aspirin by mouth and oil of wintergreen externally, have been used for many years and still are used in this disease.

The principal aim of whatever treatment is employed is to prevent heart damage or at least keep it to a minimum and also to speed recovery from the acute attack.

Husbands Don't Go on Loving Wives From a Sense of Duty

Here is a paragraph taken from an article written by Dr. David R. Mace for "Woman's Home Companion" that may be an entirely new thought for a lot of wives.

"A man doesn't often stop to analyze or talk about the way he feels toward his wife. But all the time he is reacting to the way she treats him. Day by day he builds up an inner emotional attitude toward her. If it's a feeling of gratitude and pride, all goes well. If it is a feeling of annoyance and disappointment, trouble lies ahead."

This day by day reaction of a man to his wife is the one important thing a lot of wives overlook or completely ignore.

They figure that if their husbands loved them enough to marry them in the first place, they ought to go on feeling the same, no matter what the day-by-day relationship of the two has become.

It's Little Things That Count

They tell themselves they are good wives because they have done their duty in the big, important things. They are faithful wives. They have always stood by their husbands in time of real trouble. They work hard at the job of keeping a house and bringing up children. So it's their husbands' duty to stay in love with them.

But men don't stay in love with women from a sense of duty. They stay in love with the women who day by day makes them happy and content. Who day by day is easy to live with, fun to have around, and who daily irons out the small annoyances and does the little, thoughtful things that make a man know he is a very important person—at least in his own home.

As Dr. Grace says: a man doesn't often stop to analyze or talk about the way he feels toward his wife. That is probably why so many women don't realize the importance of their daily association with their husbands, and therefore make so little effort to make each day's companionship as pleasant and rewarding as possible.

Dairy Cattle Breeders to Meet

Officers of all dairy cattle breed associations of Missouri will meet with officials of the Missouri State Fair at the fair grounds here on February 14.

The meeting is being arranged to perfect better working relations between the breeders and the fair and to promote a better dairy show for the fair. Suggestions are expected to come out of this meeting for a better standardization of classes in all breeds of dairy cattle.

W. E. Preston, secretary-manager of the fair, states he will entertain any changes in the dairy show which will be of mutual benefit to all concerned.

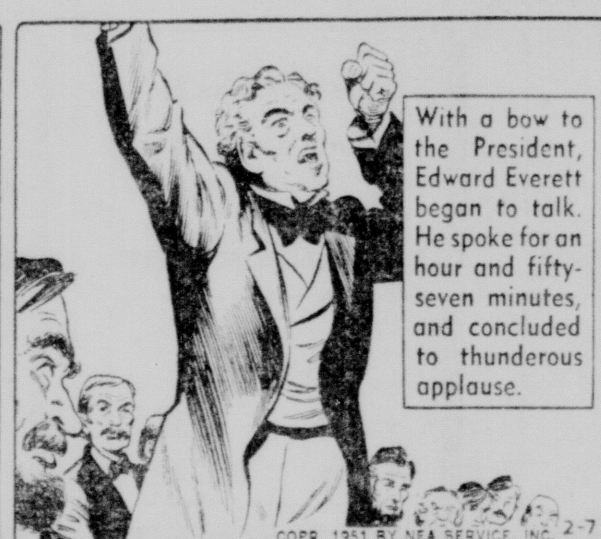

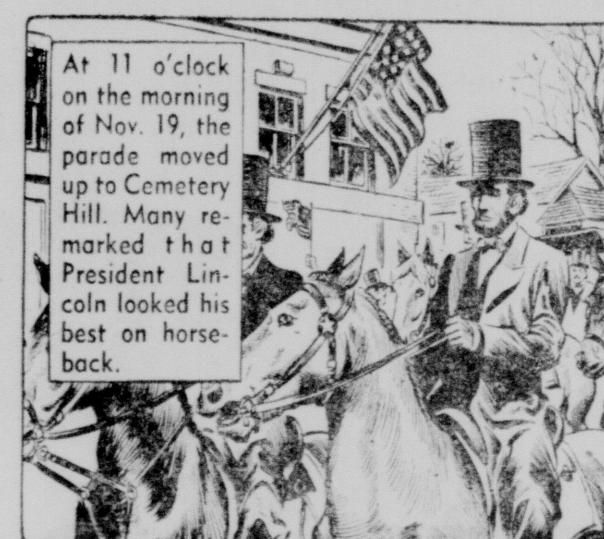

Rollo E. Singleton, director of the livestock division of the State Department of Agriculture, will preside at the meeting. Glen Monsees, superintendent of the fair's dairy-show, and Dr. A. C. Raesdale, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Missouri, will be present to assist in the discussion.

Crimson Holiday

THE STORY: Uncompromising and hateful Lavinia Grenable rode to her death when her wheel chair, with the emergency brake sawed in two, rolled off a terrace and into a ravine at her home. Witnessing the murder was Lisa, whose engagement to Court, Lavinia's oldest son, had been opposed by Henry Farwell, Lisa's father, who warned Lisa that Lavinia would make her miserable. But Lisa cannot forget that just after the violent death of Lavinia Grenable, she had seen her father on a ridge nearby and he had said nothing about being there. Also, Elizabeth Stratton, Lavinia's sister, has been acting suspiciously. The following morning, Angus Kent, who was with Lisa when Lavinia was killed, calls to warn the Farwells that the sheriff will question them. Angus calls the sheriff and talks to Geri Palmer, Lavinia's secretary, who seems to be crying.

X

LISA FARWELL followed Angus Kent back to the door. "Some people have queer taste," she reminded him. "Or maybe she wasn't really crying—she might have had the hiccups or something." She meant it as a joke, but Angus looked down at her.

"Try not to worry," he advised, disregarding her remark. "If you want me or need me, I'll be around."

Lisa watched him go down the long front walk to the road. The sun shone on his head and shoulders and for her the last trace of the old charm of Court Grenable's lithe darkness was completely dissolved, washed away by warm sunlight on a tall blond young man's head. With a little shiver of dismay she turned back to the house.

Sheriff Lane telephoned about 8:30 as Angus had predicted. Lisa and her father were to be at the Grenable house between 9:30 and 10 o'clock, not later.

Lisa was relieved when the time came for the thoughts crowding her mind were frightening her more than she wanted her father to know. She hadn't been able to bring up the matter of his telephone conversation with Elizabeth Stratton that she had overheard and she couldn't find the right words to tell him she had seen him on the ridge.

Lisa only knew she was ready to deny it if anyone questioned her.

On the way over to Grenable's she said casually, "Angus said if we wanted him he'd be around." Henry Farwell turned sideways in the car to look at his daughter carefully. Unexpectedly, he smiled, and for just that moment his round face resumed its customary genial confidence.

"That is good to know," he said calmly. But she wasn't at all sure if he meant what his words said on the surface.

THE Grenable house looked as unangely and menacing in the morning sunlight as it had seemed to be yesterday evening, and not even the gay yellow of the early forsythia bush on the east corner lessened its prevailing grimness.

Lisa parked the car near the police car in the bend of the drive and they followed the flagstone path to the side entrance.

As Lisa and her father passed under the whispering oaks and elms to the house she wondered vaguely if all the lives and all the years could return to haunt these terraced lawns, what their testimony might add to the summation of hatred for Lavinia Grenable.

Geri Palmer met them at the door. "Come in," she said pleasantly. "I'm Geri Palmer, Mrs. Grenable's secretary."

"Yes, I know!" Lisa said. Lisa had seen Geri before, shopping in Hilton and once with Court when he had driven Geri to the station to catch a train to Chicago on her day off.

A—Its origin is obscure. It may come from the Mexican town, Jalapa, known for its broken-down cars. It may be derived from the Spanish word "galapago" meaning a tortoise, hence a slow-moving vehicle.

Slim And His "Ali Species"

Slim Baker, who's always doing something crazy, had a lot of people smiling last week because his entry won a ribbon in the Women's Club Annual Pet Show.

Seems as though Slim saw a strange-colored alley cat with no tail over at Central City and brought it home. He washed, combed, and brushed it and put a collar on it with a card reading "Ali Species." Then he enters it in the show.

Hanged if the ladies didn't think it was some rare kind of cat and gave it a special award! When one of them asked Slim where she could get one like it, he said, "It's all yours, M'am—I can get an 'Alley Cat' anytime I want!"

CATTLE GRUBS
(Ox Warbles)

The total loss from reduced beef and milk production due to cattle grubs is from fifty to a hundred million dollars a year, according to the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. This does not count the damage to the hides.

This loss can be prevented by the use of a Rotenone insecticide powder applied when the grub reaches the back of the animal and starts boring through. That time is right now in most cases. It should be understood that not all grubs reach the back at the same time and it may be necessary to repeat treatment in thirty days.

Also by killing the grubs in this stage you eliminate the hatching of the heel fly which causes them. You can see from this fact that if every farmer would do his part this pest could be almost entirely eliminated in this area.

Scene of Pathos And Grief at Wreck In Which Eighty Died

"by landing on a pile of dead." They talked as acetylene torches bit their way through twisted metal in the glare of floodlights.

"It happened so quickly that nobody had time to shield their faces," Leslie Cavanaugh of Sea Girt added.

"I saw many nearly cut in half by glass splinters. . . . The man next to me lost his arm. . . ."

But, what of those who didn't get out?

Most were businessmen, tired from the day's work. Others were office girls, secretaries, women shoppers. The same kind of folks you'll find on any commuter train.

A man — wearing an expensive looking overcoat and carrying a newspaper — was one of them.

A wrecked car tumbled over and pinned him to the ground.

Another man, caught under the heavy coach wheels, sobbed, "Help me, help me" — and joined those who were killed instantly.

Then there were those who were trapped inside the crazily tilted cars — piled up like cordwood near the doors.

"Seats were piled up on top of you. . . . everything a twisted mass. . . . Men told us to keep still. . . . We did. . . . Everything was just. . . ."

Miss Mary Mikulich couldn't go on.

Trampled in Panic

"Like a bunch of wild animals trying to free themselves from upset cages," was the way Arthur Wissner of Elberon described his car.

"People were clawing and punching each other to get clear of the wreckage. I saw one woman go down on the floor. I think she was trampled to death," Wissner added.

Edwin D. Baumeister of Bayhead was sleeping, much the same as many others, but his awakening was terrifying.

"I woke up sitting on the ceiling," he said, making his way toward an ambulance — his shirt front bloody and dirty.

Another Bay Head resident, Carl Spurgat, told of lifting a heavy piece of iron off a fellow passenger who whispered, "I know my leg is gone."

A priest, the Rev. Anthony Huber, crawled into the cars to administer the last rites of his church to the dead and injured.

"It was terrible. . . . I could only see parts of bodies strewn in the aisles. . . ." he said.

Richard Douglas, 19-year-old engineering student from West Long Branch, talked from a hastily improvised stretcher.

"I was thrown on top of a pile of squirming people. Blood poured on my face from the man on top of me. . . . After what seemed like an hour I reached a smashed window."

As he recalled his escape, rescuers and firemen — using ladders to reach the overturned coaches from the street 20-feet below — carried broken, lifeless forms to improvised morgues or laid them out across the street along a white-washed picket fence.

A pitiful line of wives and mothers and fathers and relatives crowded morgues and hospitals for word of loved ones. Some seemed to sense impending grief.

But for others — at home holding suppers for fathers and husbands — it came harder.

A telephone rang impatiently in the home of Edward Thomas McDonough.

His daughter cried softly into the phone.

"My father didn't always take 'The Broker' home. I must hang up now, I've just broken the news to my mother and it's terribly hard," she said.

Others — the legion of the waiting, waiting, waiting at home for some word — sat and hoped miles from the scene.

Mrs. John R. Watkins picked up her phone in Belmar.

"He always came home on that train," she whispered.

Her voice was tight and strained but under control.

Switchmen Back to Jobs In Most Cities

result of a seizure order last summer during labor trouble.

Judge Igo cut off testimony about union grievances to say: "Everyone sympathizes with these men in their demand for more pay and better working conditions. No one questions their right to strike and bargain for more pay. But this is not the issue before this court."

"Someone has interfered with the operation of the country's railroads. Union grievances are not the issue. These men have challenged the sovereignty of the United States and in this court that sovereignty is asserted."

In exempting Fifth army officers from appearing in court, Judge Igo said they "ought to be out running the railroads. They should get some soldiers to operate the railroads if nobody else can do it."

Report For Duty

A survey today showed yard workers were reporting for duty on a full or sizable scale in at least 20 other cities in addition to New York and Philadelphia—including Minneapolis, St. Paul, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Utah, Buffalo, N.Y., Phoenix, Ariz., El Paso, Tex., Pueblo, Colo., Detroit, Milwaukee, and Cincinnati.

It also showed that the men still were out, or only minorities were on the job in Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Peoria, Ill., Portland, Ore., and several other cities.

Switchmen were returning in the twin cities. The Milwaukee road there had 15 or 20 men on hand at the start of the day shift. The Burlington force of 58 reported they were ready for duty. The Minnesota Transfer company, a switching service, said it was virtually back to normal.

An army spokesman said the situation in Chicago, U. S. transportation hub, was "not too bad."

Squabble Over
Building Fund

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 7 — (AP) — A minority Republican charged in the Missouri House today there was "either a million dollar error or a million dollar theft" in a $1,775,000 appropriation request to finish a new state office building here.

Rep. Richard M. Webster of Jasper County said the McDonald Construction company agreed last August to build the top five floors of the building for a total of $823,760—almost $1,000,000 less than the appropriation request of Gov. Forrest Smith.

Smith, Lt. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., and Attorney General J. E. Taylor are members of the state board of public buildings. They negotiated the contract with the St. Louis company.

The Republicans asked why the appropriation was for so much more than the contract called for. Webster and Rep. Paxton H. Ackerman (R) of St. Louis told the House for the first time that the contract existed.

Under it, they said, the company agreed to build the first eight floors for a little of $3,000,000, the amount available at that time for construction.

They reported the contract also said the company would build the top five floors, making it 13 stories as originally planned, for $151,611 a floor plus ten per cent.

The Republican minority bristled when the Democrats tried to ram the measure through. They offered to let the bill hang for ten minutes while Democrats assured themselves the contract was in effect until March 1, the end of the option period for the extra five floors.

Rep. Delton L. Houthens (D) of Henry County, majority floor leader, called a halt for a minute. He rushed up to the rostrum to talk with Speaker Roy Hamlin (D) of Marion County.

Another Democrat tried to halt all debate and force an immediate vote.

Meeting Is Postponed

The Opti-Mex club meeting, which was to have been held Thursday night, has been postponed.

The St. Margaret's guild of the Calvary Episcopal church will have a dinner tonight at 7:00 o'clock at the home of Mrs. James E. McNeil, 1123 West Seventh street, with husbands of members as guests.

Two Suspected in Theft of Ewes

Alleged rustling six ewes from the farm of George Stamburger, of East Booneville road, resulted in apprehension as suspects of William Lemens, 1409 East Fourth street and Donald Moore, 117 West Second street by the state highway patrol.

Grand larceny charges have been filed in the magistrate court against the two in connection with the taking of the sheep and hauling them to the Kansas City stockyards where an attempt was made to sell them Monday morning. Both are held in the county jail pending a hearing.

Suspicious as to the sheep, officials of the stockyards queried a Sedalia about them. He reported they were not the property of Moore or Lemens. The state highway patrol began a check and learned the ewes had been taken from the Stamburger farm.

State Trooper Pete Stohr went to Kansas City with Mr. Stamburger who identified the sheep as his, and in company with Lieutenant Chester Oliver and Sergeant Arthur Bell of Troop A, Moore was arrested at the stockyards Lemens was taken into custody here in Sedalia by Sergeant William S. Barton.

The two also are being investigated in connection with other recent thefts.

According to the patrol the sheep were stolen Friday night and hauled to Kansas City in a car trailer on Saturday morning. The market being closed they were held over until Monday to await the opening of the market.

Both are in the county jail.

Mr. Truman assembled an impressive staff of cabinet members and their experts for his meeting with Mr. Hoover. They included Secretary of State Acheson, assistant Secretary George McGhee, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, and ECA Director William Foster.

As Relief Expert

Hoover is noted as a relief expert and a leader of humanitarian causes. His work in this field goes back to World War I. After World War II, in 1946-47, he made a survey trip through Europe and southeast Asia. He visited India at President Truman's request and arranged for food supplies necessary to carry that country through a famine at that time.

Squabble Over
Building Fund

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 7 — (AP) — A minority Republican charged in the Missouri House today there was "either a million dollar error or a million dollar theft" in a $1,775,000 appropriation request to finish a new state office building here.

Rep. Richard M. Webster of Jasper County said the McDonald Construction company agreed last August to build the top five floors of the building for a total of $823,760—almost $1,000,000 less than the appropriation request of Gov. Forrest Smith.

Smith, Lt. Gov. James T. Blair, Jr., and Attorney General J. E. Taylor are members of the state board of public buildings. They negotiated the contract with the St. Louis company.

The Republicans asked why the appropriation was for so much more than the contract called for. Webster and Rep. Paxton H. Ackerman (R) of St. Louis told the House for the first time that the contract existed.

Under it, they said, the company agreed to build the first eight floors for a little of $3,000,000, the amount available at that time for construction.

They reported the contract also said the company would build the top five floors, making it 13 stories as originally planned, for $151,611 a floor plus ten per cent.

World Day of Prayer Friday

The World Day of Prayer will be observed locally Friday at the First Methodist church at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

According to Mrs. Ernest Liebel, president of the Sedalia Council of Church Women, the observance was begun in 1887 when Mrs. Darwin R. James, president of the Women's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian churches in the United States called on all Presbyterian women to gather in their own communities on a specified date to pray for home missions. The response was so great that a date was set aside annually.

In the early '90s. Under the leadership of two outstanding Baptist women, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody and Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, a day was designated for foreign missions. For many years home and foreign mission groups observed days of prayer separately, but in 1919 they came together.

In 1920 the women of Canada joined them. The first Friday in Lent was chosen as a day of prayer for missions, home and foreign.

Missions spread the idea of a day of prayer and at the request of many friends in other lands, it became a World Day of Prayer in 1927. Today the program is sent in advance to 92 countries. There has been uninterrupted growth in the movement from its inception. There are now approximately 15,000 observances in the United States.

Home in Danger Spot on a Curve

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7—(P)—First it was potatoes, scattered over the lawn when a truck overturned.

Then it was hay, in a similar accident. Twice cars overturned and burned in front of the house.

A careening car struck the front porch, and hardly had repairs been made when another automobile sheered the same porch off completely.

Then destruction invaded the house itself. An automobile crashed through the wall of Mrs. Cipriano Contreras' bedroom early Monday, wrecking the bed on which she slept.

Mrs. Contreras went to the hospital with multiple injuries of the back and ribs.

Her home lies just beyond a curve on a speedway.

The A B C's of DRY CLEANING
by Doc Bob, Your Dry Cleaner!

Crushing of Velvets
Velvets have a natural tendency to crush. In the case of pile of cellulose acetate rayon, it cannot be raised if it is crushed. These fabrics are usually of the heavier type. They have a beauty and depth of color that makes them attractive. But should you spill a glass of water on your suit, or should you get caught in the rain, you will find yourself in a blue mood. Any crushing of the pile while it is wet will cause the cellulose acetate rayon pile to mat down. It is difficult, if not impossible, to restore the pile to its original appearance.

'Gabby' Made Great Catch To Settle Playwright's Bet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—It's ironic that the man who was the great Walter Johnson's catcher should be remembered chiefly because he once caught a ball tossed from the top of the Washington's monument.

Gabby Street died in Joplin, Mo., Tuesday and inevitably that catch he made on Aug. 21, 1908, was mentioned promptly in the news stories of his death.

Yet if Street had had his way, he wouldn't have made what literary was a monumental catch.

Francis Stann, sports columnist for the Washington Evening Star, has done some research on the feat and reports:

Preston Gibson, playwright son of a Louisiana senator, had bet that a man could catch a ball thrown from the monument. Street was reluctant. But Gibson said the bet was a big one, and kept insisting until Street gave in.

The last half of the fifth round of the Optimist Basketball league was played last night at Washington school. The first game saw the 54 Explorers on top at the end of the game by two points, the score being 28-26. Kennon, center for the Presbyterian Scouts was top man for his team scoring 14 points. Old Guard in Baseball is Saddened by Street Death

By Joe Falls

Gabby Street has told his last story. But veteran baseball men the world over recalled today many of the tales that made Street one of the game's most colorful and best liked characters.

His death yesterday, while expected, saddened the Old Guard. Frankie Frisch, Dizzy Dean and Pepper Martin, members of the rowdy Gas House Gang, managed by Street in the early thirties, spoke in soft tones when told the Old Sarge had died.

Frisch, conducting a baseball school for American G.I.'s in Germany, said Gabby was a great player and a great manager; one of the hardest hustlers and most aggressive leaders I ever knew.

Martin, who won the 1931 World Series for Street, said "Baseball will miss him badly."

And Dizzy Dean recalled how Gabby "always called me Jerome—never Dizzy. He said Dizzy never fitted me."

Charles E. (Gabby) Street will be missed. When the one-time big league player, manager and story-teller extraordinaire died of a malignancy in Joplin, Mo., yesterday, it ended 50 years of baseball.

Street, 68, was as fabulous and versatile as he was liked. He went through the Spanish-American war, the San Francisco earthquake, the Federal league war (baseball), and two World Wars. He managed the Cardinals, the St. Louis Browns, was the target for Walter Johnson's smoking fast balls and did radio broadcasting in the later years. He even caught a ball tossed from the top of the Washington monument.

Dean, one of the greatest right-hand pitchers in Nat'l league history, recalled how Street would lighten the tense atmosphere of a pennant battle with a humorous anecdote.

"Many a time in a nerve-racking drive he'd relieve the tension and build our spirits with stories of his career," Dizzy said. "He always shared the troubles of the players. A great man."

Frisch wandered back to 1931 when Street turned Martin loose against the Philadelphia Athletics—and how Pepper ran the proud A's into the dust.

"You know some people accused me of stealing Street's job when I succeeded him as Cardinal manager late in the season of 1933," Frisch said. "But that's not true. When they asked me to take the job I held back; I hated to see Street go out that way and I did not think I was ready yet to become a manager."

Martin also told of Street's many tales.

"He had a lot of funny stories but was serious when it came to baseball," Martin recalled. "About the only time he was humorous was on the train during trips when he had a lot of spare time. He'd sit back, smoke a pipe I bet was 100 years old, and tell stories. His favorites were about his experiences as a sergeant in World War I."

Funeral services for the "Old Sarge" will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Otto C. Seymour at the First Presbyterian church at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Golden Gloves Takes Over In Missouri

Annual Tournament Of Champions in K. C. and St. Louis

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Thirty-three quarter-final bouts in the open division and three novice semi-finals are scheduled for tonight's activity in the Kansas City Star's 16th annual Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

Finals Saturday Night

Finals in the novice division will be sandwiched between the open semi-finals and finals Saturday night.

Especially live competition is expected in the lightweight open battles. Bobby Bickle, of Ft. Riley, representing the Topeka team and a favorite here for three years but never a champion, will meet tough Bob Davis of Kansas City in what is expected to be one of the top bouts.

Three 1950 champions are on the card. Ned Doughty, Kansas City's national and international 118-pound champion, will go up against Alfred Richardson of St. Joseph, in the 126-pound division.

James Hairston, Kansas City, who won the 12-pound title last year, is matched with Junior Sanchez, Kansas City, and heavy-weight Bob Miller, Leavenworth and Kansas City, takes on the survivor of an earlier bout in tonight's program.

Champions to Chicago

The eight open champions will compete in the Chicago tournament later this month.

Doughty advanced on default by Jesse White, Kansas City. Richardson scored a technical knockout over Leonard Rapp, Kansas City in the first round.

Hairston will be making his first start as will Miller.

An estimated 3,500 witnessed last night's bouts.

131 Bouts in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The Poplar Bluff team is leading the way for the out-of-town competitors in the 16th annual St. Louis Golden Gloves tournament.

The southeast Missouri team scored eight victories, three on knockouts and one by default, as the tournament opened last night at Kiel auditorium.

The 7,637 fans were entertained with 43 knockouts.

Tonight's program calls for 131 bouts.

Tigers Blast Pirates 49-38 To Smash Jinx

All good things must eventually come to an end as the Hannibal Pirates found out Tuesday evening when the high flying Tigers of Smith-Cotton ended a three year jinx by downing the Bucs at Hannibal.

After losing five in a row and six of their last seven duels with the defending champs of the CMO conference, Jim Ball's charges played the role of spoiler as they virtually ended any Pirate hopes of retaining their crown.

Starting cold but displaying a type of ball and teamwork in the latter half of the game that has brought them out on top of the rougher opposition this season, the Bengals trailed 16-6 as the horn sounded ending the first quarter. Picking up steam in the second period the Sedalia quintet pulled to within one point of the boys from Marion county as the scoreboard read 20-19 at half-time.

The Tigers equaled their whole first half output in the third quarter as they racked up 19 points to Hannibal's five. Displaying brilliant teamwork throughout the entire ball game five red-hot Bengals added the finishing touches in the final stanza as they combined

Boonville five in their first meeting this season.

Led by Carl Whitney, with 20 points, the Tigers came from behind at the half 10-13 to tie the game up 28-28 at the end of the third quarter. In the fourth quarter the Tigers found the range and made twenty points while holding Boonville to six.

The wreckage of a Pennsylvania railroad car, its roof sheared away from the twisted steel of the remainder of the coach, lies on an embankment at Woodbridge, N. Harvey Gladstone Schiff, 25, Manhattan medical student, battles with rescuers after his car plunged into a 15-foot-deep excavation in New York. He fought rescuers furiously for 45 minutes before he was removed from the car, which landed on its wheels. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Bellevue hospital. His wife, Nancy, who identified the body, said she could give no reason for her husband's action. He was scheduled to be graduated in May. An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death. Czech C of Cs Have Own Troubles

PRAGUE—(P)—A meeting of the Czechoslovak-British Chamber of Commerce decided to change its name from the Original Czechoslovak-British Chamber of Commerce to the British-Czechoslovak Chamber of Commerce.

That was the text of an announcement by the government press agency and there was no explanation why it took a month to come through government channels to be cleared for publication. In the interim, however, the nation's controlled press reported that, while various foreign chambers of commerce were maintained here for the promotion of foreign trade, the internal chambers of commerce had been liquidated as "enemies of the working class."

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.
